Our Story

Initially ABM Equipment was a Supplier of Electric Utility Equipment.

ABM was founded in 1980 as a supplier of electric utility equipment. To start, our solutions included new and used aerial devices, digger derricks, and service bodies as well as parts, maintenance and repair services. Today, this line of products is still our core business. But we've expanded into a full-line truck equipment supplier for electric utilities. We also manufacture custom truck equipment to meet our customers' unique needs.

In 1984, ABM added a refuse line of products which includes front, rear & side loading garbage trucks, recycling equipment, roll-offs, hook lifts, garbage carts, tarping systems, compactors & bailers. We also offer trash loaders for transfer station applications.

Highway MFG Acquired from Dorsey Trailer Co.

In 1987, ABM purchased the Highway Manufacturing company from Dorsey Trailer Company in Edgerton, WI. Highway Manufacturing produces pressure diggers and foundation drill equipment for the electric utility industry as well as foundation drilling contractors.

In 1991 ABM formed a municipal equipment division and added equipment lines to support the street and water departments of state, city, and county agencies as well as contractors. These lines include street sweepers, sewer cleaning equipment, asphalt patchers, inspection camera systems, and other products.

In 1995, we expanded once again and formed a construction division aimed at more of the contractor markets. We added boom trucks, knuckle boom cranes, truck-mounted forklifts, field service truck packages, and lube trucks as well as air compressors, generators, and crane attachments.

About Us

Since 1980

ABM Equipment & Supply has been providing custom truck equipment to the electric utility, construction, municipal and refuse industries. We offer a large selection of new and used equipment which include aerial lifts, digger derricks, knuckle boom cranes, boom trucks, forestry loaders, truck mounted forklifts, street sweepers, hydro excavators, vacuum trucks, winches, air compressors, service bodies, refuse trucks and all related accessories.

AERIAL LIFTS- -TAILORED FOR YOUR INDUSTRY

Electric Utility, Forestry, Telecommunications, Municipalities

Electric & Utility

Aerial lifts intended for servicing transmission lines need to be incredibly dependable and trustworthy. They must offer stability and the capability to reach heights across different climates, conditions, and terrains.

Forestry

In densely populated areas, like cities, bucket trucks need to be small and maneuverable, but still have the ability to reach as high in the air. Preventing trees from interfering with power delivery infrastructure is an essential task.

On the other hand, a crane that is too large may be unnecessarily expensive and cumbersome to operate. Let the experts at ABM Equipment help.

You Have Choices.

Selecting the right crane involves evaluating the specific needs of your business, ensuring compliance with relevant regulations, considering long-term operational costs, and seeking versatility. Making a well-informed choice can lead to safer, more efficient, and cost-effective operations.

EVERLAST TRUCK BODIES

BRANDFX LIGHTWEIGHT BODIES MEAN MORE PAYLOAD

BrandFX advanced composite truck bodies allow fleets to downsize the weight of their equipment with minimal impact on payload. That means thousands of dollars in bottom line life cycle savings per fleet unit. Data suggests that by taking advantage of truck rightsizing, alternative fuels and lightweight materials, fleets can accomplish up to 50% fuel savings as well.

Truck Bodies Built for Construction To Withstand Rugged Fleet Work

Truck bodies that are manufactured for daily use in the construction industry get put to the test every day they are in operation. Construction work is demanding, no matter the industry. Objects needing to be moved, built or maintained demand a trained technician in a specialized vehicle. The tasks of clearing sites, loading and unloading of materials and equipment require different people and equipment than the assembly and breakdown of barricades and scaffolding. Every fleet has its own needs, and they vary considerably depending on climate, location, and population density. BrandFX advanced composite truck bodies meet and exceed the demanding work environment of the construction industry.
